Start, Size
Create a list of lists in range size called board
In every list create elements "none" in range size
Find the middle index value by divding size by 2
Adjust the middle value to find the starter positions of counters on the board
Use the middle value to add light and dark counters to their starter positions by editting the elements in board
End, return board